WE'RE IN THIS TOGETHER

You're less likely to spread COVID to others on campus if you're up to date with your COVID vaccines.

Students, faculty, and staff can get an updated vaccine now to help protect against Omicron if your last dose was before September 2022.

Otherwise, wait until 2 months after you complete your primary vaccination series to get your updated vaccine dose.

If you recently had COVID, you should wait 3 months from when you got sick to get your updated vaccine.

And encourage people you know to stay up to date with their COVID vaccines, too.

Find free vaccines near you at vaccines.gov.
